Cooking Without Salt

Flavour meals without salt

Your meals can be tasty without using salt. By using herbs, spices and marinades instead, you can enjoy the flavours of food with less salt. This could help you reduce your salt intake. Over time, your taste buds will get used to new flavours.

In the kitchen

Try these tips to decrease salt in cooking:

- Add dry or fresh herbs and spices in place of ingredients high in salt. For example, use garlic, celery, and onion powder instead of garlic salt, celery salt, and onion salt.
- Use ingredients such as homemade stock, low sodium bouillon (liquid, cubes, or powder), and salt-free seasonings.
- If using canned vegetables with salt, drain the liquid then rinse with water to reduce the salt.
- Cook potatoes, rice, pasta, and hot cereals without adding salt to the water. Use herbs and spices instead.

How to use herbs and spices

Spice it up! Spices and herbs can make the natural flavour of foods even better.

- When trying a new herb, crush a small amount in the palm of your hand to let it warm. Then sniff and taste it. This gives you an idea of whether you will like it in your food.
- Start with ¼ tsp (1 mL) dry or ¾ tsp (4 mL) of fresh herb or spice for each pound (454 g) of meat, or 2 cups (500 mL) of sauce or soup. Add more herbs to your taste.
- Use 3 times more fresh herbs in place of dry herbs in a recipe.
- Cook whole spices; like peppercorns, cinnamon sticks, or cloves, for at least 1 hour to bring out the flavours.
- For hot foods, add crushed herbs or spices near the end of cooking to get the most flavour.

Flavour with homemade marinade

Marinades add flavours to meats, fish and vegetables. Store bought marinades can be high in salt. Try these suggestions for marinating:

- Vinegars, such as balsamic, fruit flavoured or red wine, mixed with oil and spices make tasty marinades.
- The juice and grated rind of lemons, oranges, and limes add zest and intense flavour to any dish.
- Marinate foods for 3–24 hours in the fridge before cooking.
- Throw out the marinade used for raw meat. The bacteria in the raw marinade can make you sick. Make a fresh batch for basting during cooking.
